The University of Western Australia

University Postdoctoral Research Fellowships

Call for Applications (2002 Round)

The University of Western Australia is located on the banks of the Swan River in Perth, the capital city of Western Australia. The campus is said to be one of the most beautiful in the country - take a quick virtual tour and you will no doubt agree. The UWA is the State's first university and opened in March 1915. Over the years the University has acquired an international reputation for excellence and enterprise. It is regarded as one of Australia's top research institutions, attracting researchers of world standing across the range of disciplines, with international leaders in many diverse fields.

One of the objectives of the University of Western Australia is to recruit, retain and develop high quality researchers. Thus, the Research Committee is inviting proposals under the University Postdoctoral Research Fellowships scheme in accordance with the attached Principles.

This year up to 3 new 3-year (full-time) or 4-year (75% research/25% teaching) university postdoctoral fellowships will be awarded.

Timetable:

Please note that the closing date for this round is Thursday, 14th March 2002.

Applications:

These Fellowships are tenable across all Faculties of the University of Western Australia. Each department is invited to submit a proposal for a University Postdoctoral Research Fellowship for consideration by the Research Committee. The department must nominate a specific person for the fellowship at the same time. Intending applicants should, in the first instance, contact the department with which they wish to work. Contact and other information on departments and centres at UWA is available on the www.

A list of Past Awardees is available.
