Mechanism for Collection of post-collection publications

Beginning this year, publications which arrive after the submission of Financial and Publications data to DETYA will, for internal purposes only, be counted along with the current collection. Therefore if a 1997 publication was received in July of 1998, it can now be counted for UWA points in 1999.

For the 1999 collection of 1998 publications, these 1997 publications can be forwarded to the auditor for inclusion. Academic contacts in departments and auditors have been notified of this change. Departments are advised that publications cannot be re-counted if they were submitted and accepted in any other collection, including the current one.

The auditor will require the appropriate verification details as well as an appropriate proforma for each publication. The manual and proforma to be used are located in the "1998 Collection of 1997 Publications - Guidelines and Proformas" rather than the 1999 guidelines. The manual can be located at the RAU homepage at:

Details of the additional publications will be keyed manually into the 1997 database and reported to Financial Services.
